

PLATT NAMES HIS SLATE

Probable Candidates of the New York Machine Republicans.

TRACY, FITCH AND APPLETON

A Compromise Proposition Offered to the Citizens' Union—If the Latter Will Withdraw Low and Name Ex-Mayor Schroeder Platt's Men Will Endorse Him.

New York, Sept. 25.—Senator Platt today announced the slate for the Republican convention on Tuesday next, as follows: Mayor, Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy. Comptroller, Asahel P. Fitch. President of the council, H. Ross Appleton of Brooklyn.

Gen. Tracy, Woodruff, will be temporary and permanent chairman of the convention, and Dr. Channing M. Depew or Edward Lauterbach will make the speech nominating Gen. Tracy.

President Appleton and other local Republican leaders were more confident today than ever before that they were on the right road to straightening out the local tangle. Evidently the Tracy nomination is regarded by them as a first fairly inspired, for they believe that through his candidacy it is possible to arouse an irrepressible public sentiment next week for union against Tammany.

Before doing this, however, the demonstration will be made in the Republican city convention next Tuesday that the Republican organization is a unit in favor of opposing its party's enemy even though it may participate in a union ticket. After that convention adjourns, though, the Republican leaders, with Gen. Tracy's consent, and, in fact, his assistance, will have something to say before October 7—the last day for citizens in nominations—to bring about an anti-Tammany ticket.

OFFER TO CITIZENS' UNION.

Senator Platt wishes to compromise on Ex-Mayor Schroeder.

New York, Sept. 25.—It is asserted this evening on the authority of the Brooklyn Eagle, that at a conference of the Platt League today it was proposed to issue an ultimatum as follows:

"Ex-Secretary of the Navy Benjamin F. Tracy, to be withdrawn as the regular Republican candidate, provided the Citizens' Union withdraws Mr. Low. The Citizens' Union and Republican organizations, it was stated, should then unite on ex-Mayor Fred A. Schroeder, of Brooklyn, or any other candidate which the Citizens' Union may name for mayor. The Republicans argued in this wise:

"Mr. Low, you and this Tracy will both be voted for on election day, or neither of you will be. The Republican organization will not accept you as its candidate. It will not endorse you because it would regard such endorsement as a step toward the disintegration of the Republican party. The Republican organization, however, is willing, if you withdraw, to make the largest concessions to you and to the Citizens' Union. It will withdraw Gen. Tracy, who agreed to accept the party nomination with the greatest reluctance, and will nominate ex-Mayor Schroeder, of Brooklyn, or any one whom you or the Citizens' Union desires. It will, in fact, concede everything except what it regards as an absolute act of disloyalty to the party organization."

The New York organization Republican leaders, it is asserted, have also agreed that nothing that might occur between now and election day, would cause them to deviate one iota from the above program. They do not anticipate that Mr. Low's name will be backed for at the convention at which the candidates for mayor will be nominated.

It is possible, they say, that some words deprecating may be made upon a ballot being taken for Mr. Low, but they repeat the Low sentiment among organization Republicans, and the agreement of Gen. Tracy to end the ticket, as practically eliminated.

Chairman Quigg, of the Republican committee, will call a conference of the Republican leaders for Monday, and the question of a union candidate with some Democratic placed in nomination for minor places would be discussed.

The above plan to make ex-Mayor Schroeder, of Brooklyn, the compromise candidate, might have gone through had Mr. Schroeder himself acquiesced. When seen today, however, he said he would not be a compromise candidate, under any circumstances, and hoped Gen. Tracy would be named by the Republicans and that Mr. Low would withdraw.

The situation tonight would indicate that the daily reception given to the mention of his name by Mr. Schroeder, forces the Republicans back to Gen. Tracy, and that they will nominate him at next Tuesday's convention, trusting that pressure will induce Mr. Low to withdraw in his favor. Both Mr. Low and Gen. Tracy are warm friends.

PROBLEMS FOR TAMMANY.

The Wigwag Leaders Realize There Is Trouble Ahead.

New York, Sept. 25.—The Tammany men who have been announcing for weeks that they were "awaiting developments" are up and doing today. There seems to be too many developments to please them.

The district leaders have been brought to a realization of the fact that they must not only deal with each other in this campaign, but also with two other sets of shrewd politicians, the silverites and the McLaughlin Democracy of Brooklyn. Both are suspicious of the craft of the Tammany men.

There was a decided indication today on the part of the friends of the Kings county Democratic leaders to cause a campaign in the city convention next Thursday evening, unless Brooklyn is given the desired recognition in the making of nominations. The deliberation which will come over the bridge is inclined to demand either the right to name the candidate for mayor or comptroller. It is settled that Tammany will deny that right, and, from the talk that was heard today, the Brooklyn men will refuse.

Strife in a local Democratic convention will be a novelty. For years there has been a veneer of harmony in all Tammany convention proceedings, and where a repeated delegation could not be appeased with promises it was stifled in some other way.

The Brooklyn men, however, say they will neither be gulled nor intimidated, and unless Leader Sheehan makes satisfactory concessions the indications are that there will be a fiery thrashing about on the part

SPAIN'S TROUBLES THICKEN.

The Entire Cabinet in Danger of Being Excommunicated.

London, Sept. 25.—The excommunication of the Spanish minister of the interior, by the bishop of Palma, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state, is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated. The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated. The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

SPAIN'S TROUBLES THICKEN.

The Entire Cabinet in Danger of Being Excommunicated.

London, Sept. 25.—The excommunication of the Spanish minister of the interior, by the bishop of Palma, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state, is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated. The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated. The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.

The bishop of Palma has excommunicated the Spanish minister of the interior, Majorca, for diverting property of the church to the use of the state.

The incident is attracting much attention in Catholic circles. The bishop is without question well within his rights, but it is feared that the incident will have serious results.

It was thought that trouble would be averted by Senator Reverter resigning his office, but the bishop has refused to accept his resignation, and the situation remains unchanged.

Spain's troubles are thickening. The entire cabinet is in danger of being excommunicated.